

Fast Facts about Osteopathic Medical Education

Preliminary Enrollment Report – Fall 2013

New medical student enrollment at the nation's osteopathic medical colleges has increased by 11.1 percent in fall 2013 over enrollment in 2012. A total of 6,449 students began their medical education at one of 29 DO-granting medical schools; these schools educate students at 37 locations in 28 states. Total enrollment at the colleges is 23,144, an increase of 4.9 percent over fall 2012.

Most of this growth is accounted for by the three new osteopathic medical schools enrolling their first classes this fall:

- Alabama College of Osteopathic Medicine (ACOM), Dothan, AL
- Campbell University School of Osteopathic Medicine (CUSOM), Buies Creek, NC
- Marian University College of Osteopathic Medicine (MU-COM), Indianapolis, IN

Other colleges with significant growth are Pacific Northwest University of Health Sciences College of Osteopathic Medicine (PNWU-COM) in Yakima, WA and University of New England College of Osteopathic Medicine (UNECOM) in Biddeford, ME.

Data for this report was provided by the nation's colleges of osteopathic medicine as of September 6, 2013. All data included in this report may be freely redistributed with proper attribution to the American Association of Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine (AACOM).
