

Fast Facts about Osteopathic Medical Education

Preliminary Enrollment Report – Fall 2014

New medical student enrollment at the nation's osteopathic medical schools increased by 5.2 percent in fall 2014 over enrollment in 2013. A total of 6,786 students began their medical education at one of 30 DO-granting medical schools; these schools educate students at 40 locations in 28 states. Total enrollment at the schools is 24,615, an increase of 6.7 percent over fall 2013.

Most of this growth is accounted for by one new osteopathic medical school and two additional teaching locations enrolling their first classes this fall:

- Liberty University College of Osteopathic Medicine, Lynchburg, VA
- Ohio University Heritage College of Osteopathic Medicine, Dublin Campus, OH
- Touro College of Osteopathic Medicine – New York, Middletown Campus, NY

A preliminary count shows 4,978 new osteopathic physicians graduating from the colleges from July 1, 2013 through June 30, 2014. This is an increase of 3.6 percent.

Data for this report were provided by the nation's colleges of osteopathic medicine as of September 5, 2014. All data included in this report may be freely redistributed with proper attribution to the American Association of Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine (AACOM).
