THE AOA...IMPACTING HEALTH CARE POLICY AT ITS SOURCE!
Memo

Date: August 23, 2012

To: 2012 AOA Health Policy Forum Guests

From: Ray Quintero, Director of Government Relations
       Susan M. Friedman, Deputy Director of Government Relations

Re: Background Information for 2012 AOA Health Policy Forum

This memo provides a brief overview of the topics that will be discussed at the 2012 AOA Health Policy Forum. We look forward to seeing you on September 21!

Lowering Costs by Giving Neediest Patients Better Care
Jeffrey Brenner, MD, Executive Director of the Camden Coalition of Health Care Providers, and the subject of an article in the January 24, 2011 issue of The New Yorker magazine, will discuss his path to helping people receive better health care by studying patterns of care in the Camden, NJ health care delivery system. Lowering health care costs was not his primary motivation, but lowering costs and “bending the cost curve” are topics that will receive a significant amount of attention in the years to come. The New Yorker article is available at http://www.newyorker.com/reporting/2011/01/24/110124fa_fact_gawande.

Health Insurance Exchanges
Under the Affordable Care Act (ACA), beginning in January 2014, States are expected to have in place Health Insurance Exchanges that will provide individuals and small businesses (up to 100 employees) with the tools necessary to purchase health insurance in a competitive marketplace. If a state does not set up an exchange, or enter into a federal-state partnership, the federal government will step in and establish one. States have until this November to declare their intentions. As of August 23, fifteen states plus Washington, DC have established exchanges. Krista Drobac of the National Governors Association will discuss the multitude of factors that states must consider in establishing a Health Insurance Exchange. A panel of health care experts will provide comments from the private sector.

Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute
The Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute (PCORI) was established under the Affordable Care Act (ACA) to fund comparative effectiveness research that provides information about the best available evidence to help physicians, patients and their caregivers make informed decisions about their treatment options. In 2012, PCORI will disburse $120 million for studies that support its National Priorities for Research and Research Agenda. Anne Beal, MD, MPH, PCORI Chief Operating Officer, will provide an update on PCORI’s activities.

2012 Elections Preview
Nationally known political analyst, Stuart Rothenberg, PhD, editor of the Rothenberg Political Report, will discuss the Presidential campaign as well as the House and Senate campaigns in what is generally regarded as an important referendum on the direction of the country.

Drug Shortages and Drug Diversion
Drug shortages, especially in oncology, continue to cause serious problems and, in some cases, life-threatening situations for patients. While Congress, the Administration, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), and pharmaceutical companies have made some progress in alleviating the shortages, much more needs to be done. The other serious issue of how to stem the abuse, misuse, and illegal distribution of drugs is of great importance to physicians, patients, and the FDA. RADM Dr. Sandra Kweder of the FDA will address these critically important issues.
